The Georgia Association for Marriage and Family Therapy (GAMFT) is a division of the American Association for Marriage and Family Therapy (AAMFT), international professional association established more than 50 years ago. Activities and membership are dedicated to the promotion of the profession of marriage and family therapy and the advancement of practices and principles which enhance individual and family well-being.

The GAMFT prepared this Web Site to answer questions and provide information about marriage and family therapy and its integral role in an effective and efficient system of health care.
