Acknowledgments

The authors acknowledge several individuals without whom this study and monograph would not be possible. We thank Susan Hosek, James Hosek, Margaret Harrell, Suzanne Wenzel, and Paul Koegel for their guidance and advice throughout this project. We thank LTC David Benedek, Howard Goldman, Cathy Sherbourne, LTG Ronald Blanck (Ret.), Thomas Garthwaite, and Carole Gresenz for their careful review and comments on the earlier drafts of this monograph. We are also indebted to Marian Branch, James Torr, and Christina Pitcher for their editorial assistance, and to Steve Oshiro for managing production. We thank COL Charles C. Engel and the staff of the Deployment Health Clinical Center for providing us with feedback and inspiration. We are grateful to the many military and veteran service organizations that offered access to their membership and provided valuable feedback on the needs of this population. We are also grateful for the funding support provided by the Iraq Afghanistan Deployment Impact Fund, which is administered by the California Community Foundation.

We acknowledge the many RAND staff who contributed to the successful completion of this work—most notably, Samantha Abernethy and Taria Francois for their able administrative assistance and Diane Schoeff for her coordination of our many data-collection activities. We would also like to acknowledge the outstanding work of Robert Magaw and Lisa Gowing from SRBI in managing data collection. Finally, we thank the men and women of the United States armed forces, particularly those veterans of Operations Enduring Freedom and Iraqi Freedom who participated in this study and who serve our country each day.
